

Topic: Business education and training must promote the environment awareness. Do you agree or disagree?

In the today's competitive world, most of the people want to get more education and training to make smarter in their field or business. Many types of trainings are being provided by the educational centres, organizations. According to the above statement, some people believe that today's business education and training promote environment awareness but as much as concerned this matter, I think that only to some extent it promote environment awareness.

Comment: become

Comment: don't mention the task, discuss it

Comment: extent

In today's modernized world, we can see that there are numbers of business are going on. Some rules and regulations are everywhere such as, nowadays in many organizations banned on smoking which means people. They maintain hygiene by proper disposal of wastage. They like to make nice gardens which provide fresh air and gives nice look. Moreover, to keep their employees knowledge up to date and to provide conducive working environment, organizations arrange classes for them which all means they want to promote environment awareness.

Comment: Modern

Comment: the

Comment: growing

Comment: waste

Comment: employee's

Comment: delete this

Comment: delete this

On the other hand, we have to look at the aspects that, to run their business, businessmen are making organizations, factories, industries and clear the space which is the major cause of deforestation. Moreover, noise pollution is the caused by industries and factories. In spite of that, people are suffering from health problems such as respiratory problems like asthma, cough, lung cancer due to smoke, toxic fumes and gases and other problems such as headache, migraine, deafness due noise which released from factories.

Comment: other aspects as well.

Comment: New sentence: To run...

Comment: a

Comment: and pollution

Comment: are

Comment: fumes, gases

Comment: due to noise

In nutshell, I would like to say that today's business education and training are trying to promote environment awareness and they have been successful to some extent. We all should try to make a world, best place to live by actively participating.

Comment: In a nutshell

Comment: extent

Comment: to make our world a better place

Good structure and ideas, good language, Third paragraph is a bit confusing. Watch your grammar.